We envision a future of right relationship on the traditional homelands of the Séliš, Qlispé, and Ksanka peoples, where right relationship means living in harmony with the land, with each other, with Spirit, and with ourselves.

Nk'wúwilš means
"to become one" in Salish.

This word is used to call everyone into the circle. To us, it is an invitation to come together in a good way, toward repair of harms from the past several centuries.
